OAKLAND ELKS ARE GUESTS AT INFORMAL DANCE

Visitors from Oakland Circle Island—Off for Hilo This Evening

An informal dance in honor of the Oakland Elk visitors in the city was given last evening at the Elks' Club, following the regular lodge session. Music was furnished by the 1st Field Artillery band under the direction of Bandmaster Brinley. A large number of the wives of members of the Honolulu lodge were present to meet the visiting Elks and their ladies.

During the ritualistic session early in the evening, the Honolulu lodge was presented with a magnificent set of antlers, beautifully mounted and inscribed, and a beautiful silk flag embroidered: "From the Pacific Coast Elks to Honolulu 616."

Yesterday the Oakland people were taken on a trip around the island, visiting the pineapple and sugar districts and inspecting the big pineapple canning plant of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company. Most of them also found time to indulge in a dip in the surf at Waikiki.

They will leave this evening at 9 o'clock for Hilo, enroute to the Volcano. They will be back Tuesday morning and will attend a ball which is being arranged in their honor by the Honolulu lodge at the Seaside hotel in the evening. On Wednesday morning the party leaves on the Wilhelmina on its return to the coast. Without exception all are very strong in their praises for Honolulu and what they have thus far experienced, and express regret that they could not remain longer. An effort was made to get bookings on a later steamer in order that the stay might be prolonged, but this was found to be impossible.

WATER CARNIVAL AND PYROTECHNIC DISPLAY PROVE MOST ENJOYABLE

Bands to the number of half-a-dozen playing, at the same time, different tunes in apparent harmony; a blood-curdling piratical craft, almost denuded of lights and stripped for action; a wealth of gaily illuminated Japanese sampans, canoes, yachts, launches, outriggers and canoes go to make up a combination that is but seldom seen and heard at one time; however, such was the treat dished out for the pleasure loving public of Honolulu and the city's guests from around the world on the harbor front last night.

The grand water carnival and pyrotechnic display was an immense success and great credit is due to Chairman Jack Young of the committee which had charge of this interesting event, also to William H. Wilson, pyrotechnic expert, for the beautiful fireworks display. Mr. Young, who had expended many hours in preparation of the event, saw his work bear worthwhile fruit and undoubtedly feels well repaid for the energy expended.

Promptly at 8:30 the gaily illuminated water crafts commenced a procession around the harbor, parading in front of the grandstands which were filled to overflowing, and affording the judges an opportunity of making decisions that must have proved difficult, besides allowing the audience a splendid view of the carnival. The procession was in an undecorated tug, was everywhere, keeping the course clear for the entries for the event, a task that frequently proved difficult. However, nothing but words of praise for his efforts, the efforts of the decorators of the crafts and the efforts of the fireworks exhibitors were heard from any of the crowd. All were well pleased.

The judges included Mrs. James S. McCandless, Mrs. Arthur Wall, Lieut. N. W. Campanella, Hachiro Arata, Japanese acting-consul, and Mr. Nagatori and their awards were: Japanese Sampans—Aloha, first; Cherry Blossom, second; Red and Blue, third. Prizes, $50, $25 and $15 respectively.

Yachts—Hawaii, first. Prize, $25. There was no second or third prize. Launches—Galleon Isabella, manned

Honolulu is having a satiety of band music these days, though the appetite still seems to be strong. Besides the music played in connection with the various events, each of the half dozen bands now in the city have given a number of concerts in various places. There are two concerts scheduled for today, one of these being arranged by the 25th Infantry band in compliment to ex-Queen Liliuokalani. SAN FRANCISCO BOY BEATS DUKE IN THE 50 YARDS opinion of the San Francisco swimmers can win easily from any of the girl performers on the coast.

440-Yard Race. With the crack of the pistol the four men starting in this event hit the water as one and got away at what appeared to be a leisurely pace. Duke, at the extreme Ewa side of the course, seemed to travel without effort and with little noise, his feet making no splash and arms working rhythmically. On the opposite side of the course, however, a hot contest at once became apparent, between Lincoln Johnson, the famous one-legged champion from the Coast, and "Hanawaki" Kruger, the Healan boy.

Side by side these two soon began setting a very fast pace, the Coast man taking the lead and being the first swimmer to make the first turn. In advance of the world's champion, Johnson made his speedy turn and getaway, gaining materially on Kruger. Before the second lap was half completed, Duke's long, swinging strokes began to tell and he quickly went to the front, reaching the starting point for his 10 yards ahead of Johnson. Kruger was virtually even with Johnson at this turn. At the third turn Duke had gained about 5 yards more and Johnson had made his lead definite against the Healan boy. At the last turn the world's champion had advanced his lead to nearly 20 yards, Johnson was five yards ahead of Kruger, and the three held these places back to the 40-yard tape. There was doubt throughout of the tussle between Kruger and the visitor, Johnson, and the latter's final spurt was greeted with cheering. It was a popular victory for him, even though he did not beat Duke.

50-Yards for Boys. Eight youngsters started in the first race of this event. Several beat the starter's gun two or three times before all finally got away and were warned that another false start would result in penalties. Finally they started quite well together, Kruger of the Healanis taking the lead and holding it until the last few yards, when he weakened and Clarence Lane, the speedy entry from the Palama Settlement, came up on him, finishing in a dead heat. This was one of the prettiest and most exciting events of the meet.

100 Yards. As usual in this event Duke seemed to be "loafing" along up to the 50-yard mark, George Cunha taking the lead up to that point, with Small, the speedy San Francisco swimmer, a shade behind Cunha. From that point the positions changed rapidly. Cunha, who started in the middle of the course, pulled over to his left, gaining the quarter of the way across the width of the course and finishing virtually in Kahanamoku's course. While he was doing this the champion picked up and began ploughing the brine, moving so rapidly that he left all the others far behind. Small also travelled sideways slightly but showed a burst of speed toward the finish that enabled him to slap the finishing board a fraction of a second in advance of Cunha. Small's time was more than three seconds slower than Duke's over this distance, the former finishing in 54.45 seconds, bettering his own world's record, made here last year, for the open, salt water course.

100 Yards for Novices. Several men beat the gun, necessitating a second start and on the second try got a rather ragged start. Hay Wodehouse, a lanky Healan boy built much on the same lines as Duke Kahanamoku and who shows much the same action in the water, quickly took the lead and held it throughout, finally finishing nearly 10 yards ahead of R. Hollinger and Allen Cunha, who slapped the finishing board a fraction of a second apart. This was a Healan Club victory, all three winners coming from that organization. These points do not count in the meet, however, because it was a novice race.

50 Yards. Six men started in this race, but almost from the start it was evident that the real test was between Duke, Small and George Cunha. Duke showed more speed at the start than in his

Divorced Wife Acts as Second to 2 in Duel

(By Latest Mail)

EUREKA, Cal.—Max B. Hoppengamer and Thomas D. Hukhn, mining men, fought a pistol duel near here, in which Hoppengamer was shot three times and is dying. Hoppengamer's divorced wife, the only witness to the duel, acted as second for both men. The men met on the banks of the Klamath River. The cause of the fight is unknown here. When Mrs. Hoppengamer gave the signal for the duelists to fire, Hukhn pulled the trigger three times in rapid succession. Hoppengamer's pistol had missed fire and he could make no reply. His divorced wife rushed to his side as he fell and bound up his wounds. Hukhn immediately came here and surrendered to the sheriff.

earlier races, but Small got a lead on the crowd by a magnificent leaping start and held it, though Cunha was at his shoulder up to the 25-yard line. The latter slowed down slightly again at the very finish. Duke was a length behind at the halfway mark, but put on a great burst of speed, finishing so close up on Small that the event was nearly a tie.

From the start this was conceded Walter Pomroy's race. Fred Arnold and George Keawemahi, both Hui Nalu entries, were the only other contestants, both using the crawl stroke. Pomroy, the Coast man, made use of the over-hand, or trudgeon, stroke, with a powerful scissor kick that drove him through the water at great speed. By virtue of this stroke he was able to watch his course, travel in a straight line and to observe the progress of his competitors. He was in no danger at any time, however. He was yards ahead of Keawemahi at the end of the first lap, and though he then seemed to slow down and take affairs easier, his lead increased. He never once altered his stroke, finishing about 70 yards ahead. Keawemahi was about 30 yards ahead of Arnold.

For the thousands of spectators who watched the meet the weather conditions could not have been better, though it was possibly a trifle cool for the speeders when they came up panting and dripping from their strenuous exertions to sit around in the open awaiting the next test. The early morning was quite cool, with a threat of rain in the clouds hanging over the Pal and flung out across the sun. But the sun came out warmly about the time the program began and shone brilliantly through the remainder of the morning.

ST. MARYS, W. Va.—James Severn was indicted on a charge of disturbing religious worship by the grand jury on which he was serving. He was forced with others to deliberate over his own indictment. Lawyers declare it is the first time in history that such an event has taken place. The imprisonment was suspended on condition of Severn's good behavior.

When a young widow makes up her mind to marry again the man she spots hasn't the ghost of a show.

At a conservative estimate 4500 persons witnessed the championship aquatic event. They arrived slowly and leisurely, and it was not until the meet was nearly half finished that the bleachers were comfortably filled. In point of accommodations the local harbor has never experienced a meet equal to that held today, for though probably 1000 spectators stood along the bulkhead, witnessing the contests free of charge, they did so by choice, for most of them might have found seats inside.

They lined the bulkhead along the street in front of the naval slip, standing eight, 10 and 15 deep, and the sates were thronged with others who sought to gain entrance, until the meet was nearly finished.

As a colorful spectacle the meet was unexcelled by any former event of its kind ever held in Honolulu. Bright-hued parasols and modish gowns could be seen throughout the length of the tiers of humanity stretching on two sides, the full distance of the swimming course.

As in the former events on the Carnival program, the automobile section lining the street, while the owners attended the meet, extending for blocks, up Richards street as well as along both sides of Ala Moana road.
